THE END OF THE WORLD.

Notwithstanding the express declaration of the Savior, in foretelling his second advent and the end of the world—that "of that day and hour knoweth no man, not even the angels of heaven"—there have in all ages been those who vainly attempt to be "wise above what is written;" and in their interpretation of the mysterious language of prophecy, they have from time to time confidently predicted the exact year, month, and even day, "when all these things shall come to pass." Repeatedly as they have proved to be false prophets, each generation sees new ones arising, and they are never without some deluded followers. The last that we have heard of it Captain W. A. Baker, a British army officer of the Royal Bombay Engineers—who has published to the world a book bearing the title of "The Day and the Hour, or, Notes on Prophecy, a Sketch of the Future, extracted from the Bible." This strange volume has just appeared in England, and will no doubt create a sensation in certain circles. The author gives full particulars of sundry very remarkable events, which, if we will accept his authority, are to happen the next thirteen years—1878 being that in which all terrestrial things are to come to an end. It is fixed, he tells us, for the hours of sunset on the 20th of September in that year; but it will be preceded by other events of great interest to the whole world, the dates of which are exactly given. Thus:

On the 9th of October, 1877, Queen Victoria will retire, and the Prince of Wales be made Prince Regent.

In 1869 and '70, Austria will seize Greece and some minor German States, and Russia will seize on Turkey.

On the 27th of October, 1871, Russia and Austria will combine to make war on France; and on the same day, perhaps, Napoleon will sign a covenant with the Jews.

On the 21 of June, 1872, the Emperor of Russia will be killed in Palestine, on the field of battle, and Napoleon will become supreme monarch, all the kingdoms of the old Roman earth falling to him, Britain excepted.

On the 10th of March, 1875, the Jews will be restored to Jerusalem and the Holy Land.

On the 9th of April, 1875, Anti Christ (who is explained as Napoleon III.) will appear, and be fully revealed.

About the 1st of September, 1874, the sign of the Son of Man will appear in the heavens; and at sunset, as we have said, on the 20th of September, 1878, Christ will be seen descending on Mount Olivet.

Captain Baker professes to have discovered two most important events which are to occur in quick succession after the power of Napoleon is consolidated, but before his appearance as Anti Christ: 1st. The resurrection of the just, immediately on the expiration of the six thousand years of the world, which, according to his chronology, will be December 6, 1874. This will be invisible to the living, he thinks, and, naively remarks, "I therefore do not expect my opinion can ever be proved right, nor can it ever be proved wrong." 2d. The translation of the saints from earth to heaven, which is to take place some little time before dawn on the 25th of January, 1875. This, like their resurrection will be also invisible, "and therefore," says the Captain, "we shall never know in this life whether such is precisely the case or not."

On the principle of the old adage, that "seeing is believing," the learned author is not likely to make many converts.

The following account is given of the death of Stonewall Jackson:

He received one ball in the shoulder joint, shattering the bone and severing the chief artery; a second ball passed through the same arm between the elbow and wrist, making its exit through the palm of his right hand, about the middle, and passing through, broke two of the bones. At the moment when he was struck, he was holding his rein in his left hand, and the right was raised either in the singular gesture habitual to him, at times of excitement, or to protect his face from the blows of the trees. His left hand immediately dropped at his side, and his horse no longer controlled by the rein, and frightened at the firing, wheeled suddenly and ran from the fire in the direction of the Federal lines. Jackson's helpless condition now exposed him to a distressing accident. His horse ran violently between two trees; from one of which a horizontal bough extended, at about the height of his head, to the other, and, as he passed between the trees, this bough struck him in the face, and tore off his cap and threw him violently back on his horse. The blow was so violent as nearly to unseat him, but did not do so, and rising erect again, he caught the bridle with the broken and bleeding fingers of his right hand and succeeded in turning his horse back into the turnpike. Here Captain Wilbourn, of his staff, succeeded in catching the reins and checking the animal, who was most frantic from terror, at the moment when, from loss of blood and exhaustion, Jackson was about to fall from the saddle.

The St. Louis Republican of the 21st inst., contains an editorial of some length announcing the death of Monroe M. Parsons, of Missouri, in an action near Camargo, Mexico, between a force of Liberals and a body of Imperialists, in which the latter were defeated. Gen. Parsons was a prominent lawyer of Cole county, and before the war, represented the counties of Cole and Cooper in the State Senate, and received the appointment of Brigadier General in the rebel service under Gen. Sterling Price. After peace was declared in the United States, Gen. Parsons went to Mexico, and in the incident of the engagement near Camargo, it is stated, that he and six of his men were killed.—[Central Mo., Advertiser.]

The rush of applicants for pardon to the Attorney General's office continues as great as at any previous time, and to prevent the entire monopoly of the attention of the officers of this bureau by the pardon-seekers, it has been found necessary to limit their admission to between the hours of eleven and one o'clock. The applicants average one hundred and fifty per day, and are almost exclusively confined to the $20,000 class.—[Star.]

A negro woman who was baptized a few Sundays ago at Huntsville, Alabama, came forth from the water shouting, "freed from slavery, freed from sin, bless God and Gen. Grant."

INCOMES OF FREEDMEN.

The following table of incomes of some of the freedmen of Newbern, during the third year of the war, is an argument that cannot be made to appear to advantage by those who claim that slaves are rendered helpless and wretched by emancipation. 305 persons not employed by the Government, but working at trades of their own, returned a total income of $151,562, the average of all incomes being $496 92.

George Barge, turpentine farmer,.....3,000
Ned Huggins, tar and turpentine,.....2,150
P. H. Hall, missionary and trader,.....2,000
W. A. Ives, carpenter and grocer,.....2,400
George Gordon, turpentine,.....1,500
Adam Hymen, turpentine,.....1,300
Sam'l Collins, dry goods and groceries,.....1,300
Benj. Whitfield, grocery and eating-house,.....1,500
Hasty Chadwick, turpentine,.....1,400
Lumber Lewis, staves, wood and shingles,.....1,500
George Phisic, grocer,.....1,500
Sylvester Mackay, undertaker,.....1,000
Charles Bryan, eastman,.....1,000
John H. Heath, shoemaker,.....1,400
William Long, lumberman,.....1,205
John Bryan, cotton farmer,.....1,100
Hogan Conely, cooper and tar maker,.....1,000
Dandy Heath, grocer and baker,.....1,500

The average of the incomes for barbers was $665, blacksmiths $468, masons $402, carpenters $510, grocers $678, coopers $418, and of turpentine farmers $446.

At Beaufort, of 1,592 blacks in the place, only 300 received help, while at the same time 1,200 whites were supplied with rations.

The colony at Roanoke Island, in two years made improvements whose cost value at the lowest figures was $44,000, more than would have bought the whole island before the war, with all the improvements which the "master class" had put upon it in two hundred years. In two years Sir Walter Raleigh's famous colony established here, became utterly extinct.

These general facts concerning the condition of the freedmen when the war closed are taken from official papers, and show what the freedmen are capable of performing under most disadvantageous circumstances.

A steamer of 200 tons is about leaving Hamburg, under command of Capt. Hagemann, on an expedition to the Arctic Ocean, and it is said to be the pioneer of an expedition upon a large scale. The expedition will proceed to the eastern coast of Spitzbergen, possibly also to Gillis Land from which point the actual object of exploration will be entered upon. This is to ascertain, by careful examination of the seas between Spitzbergen and Nova Zembla, whether Dr. Petermann's conjectures as to the direction of the Gulf stream are correct. The funds for the expedition have been partly raised by subscription among the Senate and citizens of Hamburg.

JEFF'S TREASURE.—An affair of considerable interest is going on in the Cashier's room of the Treasury, where a count is being made of Jeff Davis's treasure, captured by Major General Wilson and brought here from Augusta, Georgia, by Mr. Twombly, of the Treasury Department. The specie consists of about $87,000 in gold, and $9,000 in silver, the latter being principally in Mexican dollars of old coinage, besides about thirty bars of silver, which will make the entire value of the treasure something over $100,000.—[Star.]

It is said that the Hannibal & St. Joseph railroad is being thoroughly overhauled—the grade reduced—new iron and new ties going down—and will ere long be in tip top condition. This will be good news to shippers and others on that road, who have suffered many inconveniences from the incapacity of the road to meet the demands upon it. We learn that the company has had upon the road for some time back all the rolling stock it would bear, and until the grades are reduced and other improvements made it cannot perform more work than it has been doing. But as the necessary improvements are being made, ere long the road will admit of an additional amount of rolling stock, and thus increase its capacity to accommodate more efficiently and more speedily its largely increased and still increasing patronage.

We understand that the Navy Department has given orders for the fitting out of one of our most commodious side-wheel gunboats for the purpose of carrying some distinguished officers down the Southern coast. It is thought that the President has had in contemplation a visit to North Carolina, Charleston, &c., for some time past, and possibly intends to carry out his intention before the assembling of Congress. His presence at any of the State conventions would no doubt be productive of much good.—[National Intelligencer.]

ADVICE MATRIMONIAL.—When the cool rays of autumn shall have succeeded the heated term, county clerks and the ministers anticipate frequent fees for "binding" certain portions of the human family. To those who anticipate entering the holy bonds of matrimony, we affectionately commend the following advice on the subject by a Persian poet:

When thou art married, seek to please thy wife, but listen to not all she says. From man's right side a rib was taken to form a woman, and never was there a rib quite straight. And would'st thou straighten it? It breaks, but bends not. Since, then, 'tis plain that crooked is woman's temper; forgive her faults and blame her not, nor let her anger thee, nor coercion use, as all is in vain to straighten what is curved.

PROVERBS BY JOSH BILLINGS.—Young men, be more anxious about the piddlygree you are going to leave, than you are about the 13umbdy left you.

There is only 1 advantage that I can see in going tew the Devil, and that iz, the rode iz easy and you are shure to find the way.

When a man's dog deserts him on account of his poverty, he kant git enny lower down in this world—not bit land.

Men ain't apt tew git kicked out ov good society for being rich.

A philosophical cabman in Mobile thus speaks of the section over which his wheels make their tracks: "If you run over a youngster down 'here in this here ward," said he, "the folks don't say nothin', 'kase they have got more children than wittles for 'em; but you jist run over a goat, or a kid, or a sow, or pig, and blest if a mub ain't arter you in two minuts!"

"A young lady of color," with a fortune of $500,000 advertises in Gallman's (Paris) Messenger, that she desires to form a matrimonial alliance.

A TERRIBLE PREDICTION.

Professor Leonidas, an Indianapolis astrologer, after looking at the rings around the sun, makes the following horrible prophecy: "I observe by the planets that a dreadful plague will commence in Russia originating from silks brought over from Egypt, Cario and Turkey. It will extend across the Baltic Sea, desolate Germany, cause immense mortality in England, and then spread to the United States. This dreadful epidemic will spot the people like a leopard and turn the flesh to a purple black. The pestilence will carry off such an amount of mortals that there will not be enough left to bury the dead or give them a Christian burial. The streets of our cities, towns and villages will be swarmed with the dead and dying. The groans and yells of horror will fill every breast with consternation. Confusion will abound on all sides. The death knell will cease to toll as the malady rages in fury. The infected will fall and die wherever they take it. The stench of the dead will become so common that the survivors will not heed it."

A novel "bachelor's" association has been founded in Vienna. The object of the society is to promote matrimony, by keeping a register of all marriageable ladies of admirable character, and free from extravagant tastes. A new Orleans lawyer printed a book based on the same idea, some years ago, which is a curiosity in its way.

WHAT EX-REBEL OFFICERS ARE DOING.—The New Orleans Picayune says one ex-rebel major-general is in the employ of a contractor in that city; two brigadiers are in the express business, and another is a boss drayman, while other generals are engineers on railroads. Almost every store has a colonel or a major. Three distinguished colonels are in the auction business. One of Stonewall Jackson's favorite regimental commanders is pressing cotton vigorously.

TO MAKE GOOD CIDER.—The apples should be ripe and sound. Don't press the cheese until the cider runs clear. After filling the barrels, remove them immediately to a cool cellar—let them stand with the bung open until the sediment begins to drop down; then close them, and pretty soon after give it the first racking. About three rackings will remove all sediment. Bottle before the weather becomes warm enough for the trees to put out; fill the bottles one-half inch from the corks; let them stand twenty-four hours after filling; then take a bowl of boiling water, dip in the end of cork to go in the bottle in the water; hold the bottle in the left hand by the neck and drive the cork in with a piece of fence lath. The bottles are then buried in the sand in the cellar. By this process our best Jersey apples will make cider that has often been drunk by epicures for champagne wine and will not change for years, only seeming to get more body. Let no water be used on the straw. In packing away, keep the corks up.—[Country Gentleman.]

FOUR YEARS IN SECESSION.

GEO. & C. W. SHERWOOD, 118 Lake Street, Chicago, Ill., publish Four Years in Secession, adventures in and beyond the Union Lines, by Julius Henri Brown, Special War Correspondent of the New York Tribune. It is sold only by subscription.

This work embraces a great variety of facts, incidents and romance of the War, and contains an intensely interesting account of the Author's adventures and experiences.

The "lights and shadows" of the soldier's life, from scenes in the camp, on the march, among deserted plantations, in daring exploits amid the strife and carnage of the battle-field, in the hospital and in loathsome prisons, are vividly portrayed.

Mr. Brown was an eye-witness of a wide range of stirring events in the South-west, and while a prisoner, a subject of the most perditionous treatment at the hands of the rebels.

From this vast field of mighty events and changing incidents, and from that long dreary night of suspense and anguish, which to thousands of his companions brought no ray of morning, he comes forth again to the world, and pictures in burning words, this most eventful era of the world's history.

The sale of the work should be equal to its excellence. Sept. 21, 1865—2w.

THE AMERICAN CONFLICT.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to this Standard History of the American Rebellion, by Horace Greeley.

In its character and scope it has no competitor among all the Histories of the War.

We assure our readers that Mr. Greeley's treatment of the subject is honest, impartial, straightforward and thorough. He permits public men, and political parties, to define their own positions, in speeches, letters and platforms. All of his statements are well fortified with statistical proof, and copious notes; he goes to the root and source, and, with a master's hand, traces the growing conflict through the entire period of our National Life. His style is vigorous and inspiring.

In point of typographical execution and beauty of embellishments, it is a work of the very highest order. No intelligent American can afford to be without it. The work is sold only by subscription. Vol. I is now ready for delivery by Geo. & C. W. SHERWOOD, 118 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and by their Agents. Vol. II, which completes the work, is nearly prepared. We advise our readers to purchase this, the BEST HISTORY OF THE WAR. Sept. 21, 1865—2w.

The total annual product of coffee in the world is set down in a recent circular at an average of about six hundred and seventy-two million pounds, or about three hundred thousand tons. Half of this is produced in Brazil. About 50,000 tons come from Java and Sumatra, 30,000 tons from Ceylon, 25,000 tons from St. Domingo, and the remainder from a variety of other countries or island in or near the torrid zone.

A Washington letter gives an important tabular statement, compiled from official sources, showing the number of killed, wounded and missing in the grand armies of the East and West, during the decisive campaigns of last year. The total casualties in General Grant's army from the crossing of the Rapidan to the surrender of Lee's army, were 88,387. Those in Sherman's army from the forward movement at Dalton to the occupation of Atlanta, was 37,199.
